The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Continuation of 3. NOTE: Applicant adds new limitations to the claims that requires further search and/or consideration. Specifically, please see claim 45, in which Applicant has added the limitation "patient is identified as having a mutation". This newly added limitation restricts the method for long term treatment of condition.

Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The amendment will not be entered into the record because of the addition of new limitations that have not been previously considered and/or searched. However, in the interest of compact prosecution, applicant's remarks are considered, but are not persuasive for the reasons previously made of record in the final rejection (see pages 9-15) and in further view of the following comments: Applicant's arguments are not persuasive, Applicant discusses limitations that are not required by the instant claimed invention. The claims requires the administration of the general formula in the treatment of PKU. Nichols teach pteridines known as pterins which are analogs of tetrahydrobiopterin, to pharmaceutical formulations containing them, and their use in the treatment of Parkinsonism (and other diseases caused by a deficiency of biogenicamines (e.g., catecholamines and serotonin) in the brain and the peripheral nervous system) and the tetrahydrobiopterin-deficient phenylketonurias (atypical PKU) (see col. 1, lines 7-17). This enzyme requires tyrosine, oxygen and a reduced pterin cofactor, tetrahydrobiopterin (BH4), for activity. Levels of this cofactor are severely diminished in Parkinson's disease (see col. 2, lines 21-31), this amendment is not being entered into the record and, accordingly, applicant's remarks related to the obviation of the rejection by such an amendment are not persuasive. Accordingly, the amendment will not be entered for the reasons above and claims 45-55 remain rejected for the reasons of record set forth in the final rejection of 5/13/2010.
